New sales strategy
Hi Ana,
Continuing our conversation from yesterday, what are your observations so far about the new sales scripts? I realize that at the beginning of the quarter we had to much uncertainty about whether focusing on just the four cut-and-sew pieces would generate enough excitement with buyers. I know your team has been testing the talking points in a methodical way. Are we still using the original talking points, or has your team been refining them based on client reactions?

Climate change is a pressing global issue caused by human activities particularly the emission of greenhouse gases like carbon dioxide. These emissions primarily result from burning fossil fuels such as coal, oil, and gas. The consequences of climate change are already evident, manifesting in rising global temperatures, melting glaciers and ice caps, and an increase in extreme weather events such as hurricanes, droughts, and floods. These changes significantly impact ecosystems, biodiversity, and human health. Climate change has likely led to the decline of some of Scotland's mountain plants, according to new research.
